

What Doesn't Belong Answer Sheet (#3)

Office:

There is a cell phone on John Jay's desk. Cell phones were not around during John Jay's life – they hadn't been invented yet!

Parlor:

Did you spot the artificial sweetener packets in the sugar bowl? Artificial sweetener wasn't available in John Jay's time – people simply used sugar to sweeten their tea or coffee.

Dining Room:

There is a Coke bottle on the table. Coke was invented after John Jay's life.

Kitchen:

There is a coffee maker on the table. Coffee makers today rely on electricity – something that wasn't available in homes during John Jay's life.

Hall:

Did you spot the nylon brief case on the chair? Nylon is a man-made material that wasn't invented yet during John Jay's life.

John Jay's Bedroom:

There is an alarm clock on the table next to the bed. People during John Jay's time didn't use alarm clocks – they simply got up when the sun came up!

William & Augusta Jay's Bedroom:

Did you spot the baseball cap on the chair? Although many people wore hats during John Jay's time, they didn't have baseball hats!

Nancy Jay's Bedroom:

There's a calculator on the desk. People during John Jay's time would use a different, non-electric machine called an abacus to do math.